

NEW resource from the Harvard Center on the Developing Child:
<https://pediatrics.developingchild.harvard.edu/>

An Online Toolkit for Pediatric Health Care Providers and Caregivers

The Harvard Center is thrilled to launch a brand-new website and suite of products curated specifically by and for pediatricians and pediatric health care professionals. The HCDC Pediatrics website offers resources and tools to help change pediatric health care professionals' mind-sets and habits. The online toolkit draws from the Center's extensive library of established resources and features newly created content, including briefs, handouts for providers and for caregivers, and in-depth articles. The intended outcome is to build health care professionals' understanding of the science of early childhood, so that they can adapt and apply these scientific principles within their clinical practices